

beauty / 'bjʊti/ noun ★★★

I guess it's a way of life for us. Abigail has exceptional talent and an absolute determination to make it to the top and we're there to give a helping hand any which way we can. We're mighty proud of the rapid progress she made in her last pageants and it gives us real pleasure to see her little face light up when the spotlight is on. Little Miss Sunshine, we call her. We would never pressure her to take part if she lost a taste for it all. There are times when it's a tough battle just to keep on, but if Abby strikes gold, and there's a realistic chance that that could happen soon, who knows what kind of doors may open for her?